THE REAL TEST

Of Herpelde's in Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vipers may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate dandruff and stop falling hair? No, they do not, but Herpelde does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Herpelde's stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpelde Co., Detroit, Mich.

Forced to Leave Boni.

In spite of reports that the Countess de Castellane is in London, she cannot be located at any of the well-known hostesses. A French woman, with special means of knowing the exact condition of affairs in the household of the Countess, and who is stepping in London, Sunday last, said of the separation of the French noble and his wife, who was Anna Gould:

"They are always separating and then making up again. You see, Count Boni knows pretty well that the Gould millions are quite handy to have about the house, and, in spite of his airs and graces, he is a very practical individual."

"The Count was always the 'black sheep' of the Castellane family, as was his father before him. He has never made a secret of his excesses, which are numerous. His extravagance are not limited to his palatial home, which he and his wife created. Just a few months ago he furnished, for instance, a superb apartment where, when he so desires, he lives the life of a gay bachelor. This establishment is not devoted to any special divinity, but in it he gathers collectively about him a select variety of women who happen to charm him."

"The gilded youths of Paris tell weird stories of the orgies that occur in this exquisite little cage. Madame Anna also knows of these little eccentricities, but has never bothered much about them, for such follies are accepted much as a necessity among the most polite and refined Parisian households. But she has objected recently with unusual fervor to the attention of Count Boni to Duchesse d'Uzes Marie Therese, the beautiful daughter-in-law of the famous old Duchesse, familiarly known as Madame Salan."

"Countess Anna could occasionally overlook Boni's outrageous lapses in other quarters, but in this last affair he has insulted her too much for a grand dame of the Faubourg St. Germain. This, I dare say, is the cause of the last quarrel, although I don't believe it as serious as people say."

"Countess Anna, you know, has only been accepted or tolerated in Paris because she is Boni's wife and the mother of his two sons. Everybody sympathizes deeply with her, but she has no friends among her husband's people, and they shrug their shoulders and say that if a bourgeoisie paid her money for her great name she cannot expect much more."

"It is a strange thing that Count Boni, with his painted face, padded chest, laced waist and high heels, should have two of the most brilliant fellows in all the French aristocracy as brothers. They look with considerable horror upon the little man-monkey, but still he is accepted at all polite houses. His conversation is anything but edifying, and I dare not mention the subjects he chooses for gossip at dinner tables. No honorable French girl is ever allowed to converse alone with Boni, and it is only the seasoned mondaine who will indulge in confidences with him. He is a curious specimen of the twentieth century decadence. He glories in his dissipated life and his extravagance into which it leads him."

"I think the Countess Anna honestly detects him, but she has her children to consider. Boni on his part loves her money too well to break with her. I don't think, therefore, that a permanent separation will result. They are too dependent upon each other, and the Duchesse d'Uzes cannot afford an open scandal. Were the Countess Anna without money she would undoubtedly have her life made miserable forever by every member of the Castellane family."

"Had the Countess come over to London she would undoubtedly have put up at Claridge's. She always runs away from Paris when these squabbles are on, and I don't place much importance in the fact that she is reported to have left the city."

Countess Boni de Castellane entered a plea for divorce in Paris yesterday. Representatives of the countess and the count appeared before Judge Henry Ditté, of the Court of First Instance, who, in conformity with the French law, endeavored to arrange a conciliation before allowing a definite suit to proceed. It is said on unquestionable authority that Judge Ditté's effort was not successful, the countess absolutely declining to resume her relations with her husband, and that after repeated but vain attempts by Count de Castellane's advisers to arrange a settlement the representatives of the count and countess left the court and that the suit will proceed.

The End of The World of troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters. He writes: "Two years ago kidney trouble caused me great suffering, which I would never have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of General Debility." Sore cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Blood diseases, Headache, Dizziness and Weakness or bodily decline. Price 50c. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

No false pretenses have marked the career of Ely's Cream Balm. No idle promises of rewards for cases it will not cure. Being entirely harmless, it is not responsible like the catarrh salts and powders, for minds shattered by cocaine. The great positive virtue of Ely's Cream Balm is that it speedily and completely cures nasal catarrh and hay fever. Back of this statement is the testimony of thousands and a reputation of many years' success. All druggists, 50c., or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

Death from Hydrophobia.

Mrs. Ella J. Thornton, aged 35 years, died at Charleston, W. Va., yesterday from a well-developed case of rabies.

About six weeks ago Mrs. Thornton went out to feed a dog belonging to her family, and the animal attacked her child, and was prevented from biting it by reason of the child's heavy clothing. Mrs. Thornton interfered to save the child, and was herself bitten. The dog then ran into the street and snapped the leg of a farmer who was passing, but he, too, was protected by heavy clothing. This convinced the people in the neighborhood that the animal was mad, and a policeman was called, who shot and killed the dog. Medical attention was given Mrs. Thornton, and it was thought she was all right until a week ago, when she became very ill. She could not bear the sight of a dog, and exhibited all the symptoms of rabies. She frothed at the mouth and growled and barked like a dog. All help proved unavailing, and yesterday she died in great agony.

Starting But True.

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have ward off it by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia." W. D. WILCOX, Logan, New York. Sold by Gibbons & Timmerman and W. F. It is reported in Richmond that sentiment in favor of the bill abolishing the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting is gaining support in both branches of the Legislature. It is hoped that this is a mistake and that the bill will be defeated by an overwhelming majority. The chief reason given for the calling of the constitutional convention of a few years ago, was that the affairs of the State might be placed in the hands of an intelligent and patriotic electorate. But for this, the convention would never have been held. Whatever mistake the convention made, it acted wisely in regard to the franchise clauses and these should be left severely alone. In thousands of instances the only tax paid is the capitation tax and this money goes to the support of the public schools. He is a poor citizen indeed, who has not the patriotism to pay a dollar and a half a year to the support of the State government and her schools. Still there are many such and experience has shown that the surest way to collect this tax from such men is to make it a prerequisite to their voting. Other States have adopted this plan and have found it most efficacious and so has Virginia. It is observed that those most anxious for the repeal of the law are the republican members of the Legislature. This is but natural and the democrats should not play into the hands of their opponents. The late Senator Barbour, one of the most astute men who ever represented Virginia in the halls of Congress, once asked, Why change a law that gives us forty thousand majority? and the question has never been satisfactorily answered. Under the new constitution and the franchise clauses thereof, the democrats carried the State by nearly forty thousand majority, so from a party as well as from a patriotic standpoint, the franchise laws should be left alone.

IN A SPEECH delivered by Governor Folk, of Missouri, before the 500 men members of the Boston Merchants' Association January 20, there occurred a number of pointed epigrams, which have been widely copied and discussed. One was that the people of the country are really beginning to try "to get right rather than get rich." Another was that "political parties are beginning to learn that honesty is, after all, the best politics." He said that the people have learned that a grafter is a grafter still, whether he calls himself a democrat or a republican; that it is more difficult to get good laws enforced than it is to enact them, and that "every law looks blue to the man who wants to break it." It is feared that Governor Folk's wishes are father to his thoughts, for the cold facts are that more men of the present day are trying to get rich than are trying to get right and that while many men may be trying to get right, many others are surely going wrong.

THE oldest two Senators, Morgan and Pettus, of Alabama, have announced their candidacy to succeed themselves. General Pettus is 84, and will be 87 when his term expires in 1909. Death of Mr. Clark.

Ex-Alderman Thomas W. Clark died at his residence on south Fayette street, between King and Prince, at 11 o'clock last night. The deceased had been a sufferer from organic disease for some time, and for several weeks had been confined to his home. He was seventy-two years old, and he leaves a widow and two daughters. Mr. Clark was a printer by trade, and in early life was employed upon the old Virginia Sentinel, published in this city by the Smith brothers in the ante bellum days. He was in later years an attaché of the government printing office in Washington. He also worked at times upon several Washington newspapers. Mr. Clark was elected a member of the Board of Aldermen from the Third ward in 1899, a position he retained until 1904. During recent years he had worked in Alexandria printing office, at one time being employed on the Gazette. He was cordial in his relations with his fellowmen, and enjoyed a large circle of friends and acquaintances, all of whom will regret to learn of his decease. The deceased was a native of Winchester.

Funeral.

The funeral of the late E. M. Herrington, who died at The Plaza, Fauquier county, on Sunday night, took place this afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. A. W. Underwood, on Prince street. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Stump, and the pallbearers were ex-Confederate soldiers of this city selected by R. E. Lee Camp. The interment was made in Bethel cemetery.

As was stated in yesterday's Gazette, the deceased was a gallant soldier of the Army of Northern Virginia during the civil war, he having been first lieutenant in Company K of the Eighth Virginia Infantry. He was shot in the leg in Pickett's famous charge at Gettysburg and fell near other Confederates who had received mortal wounds. Lieutenant Herrington dragged himself near two dead comrades and procuring their guns improvised crutches upon which he hobbled from the field and almost into the Confederate lines when a bullet entered the other leg.

Confederate Veterans.

R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, held their regular monthly meeting at their hall last night, Lieut. Com. W. H. May presiding. The committees appointed to prepare resolutions on the death of Comrades J. Stanley Neale and W. J. Summers during their reports, copies of which were ordered to be spread upon the minutes, and sent to the families of the deceased. A resolution of thanks from the Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, for courtesy extended, was received and recorded. The adjutant was directed to acknowledge the receipt from the War Department of 128 volumes of the war records. The committees on the observance of Gen. Lee's birthday made their report and were discharged.

Proposed New Bridge.

Mr. Mudd, of Maryland, introduced in the House of Representatives yesterday a bill calling for an appropriation of $100,000 for the erection of a bridge across the eastern branch of the Potomac river. The bridge will be built under the direction of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and under the provisions of the bill would extend from Half street southwest, Washington, to the new made land in the eastern branch, and its southern approach will extend to the original southern bank of the water course.

Another Fall in Temperature.

The snow fall yesterday morning was followed by colder and clearing conditions later in the day, and early in the night the heavens became clear, when a crisp northwest wind set in. The temperature fell rapidly and at 7 o'clock this morning the mercury stood at 13°. The river froze from shore to shore during the night, the ice being about an inch thick. The Norfolk steamer, which arrived up at an early hour, reported having encountered the ice in the vicinity of Indian Head.

Hunter Indicted.

The grand jury in Norfolk yesterday indicted John F. Hunter, the former Newport News theatrical man, now in jail charged with bigamy. Rev. Dr. Jeffers, of Alexandria, who married Hunter and his first wife, Miss Langley now living in Alexandria, and Mrs. Hunter No. 2, of Newport News, were witnesses against the accused. The petit jury trial of Hunter was set for Wednesday, and Rev. Dr. Jeffers will remain over until that time.

Police Court.

Justice H. R. Caton presiding. The morning sessions were disposed of this morning. The case of Officer Jones charged with disorderly conduct, was not taken up and dismissed. The case of Duke McCarty, charged with assaulting and beating John Payne, was fined $5.

Meeting Tonight.

A large crowd is expected at the Opera House tonight to see the new play, "The House of the Dead," by Jesse Taylor, of Washington. The meeting will be held under the auspices of Alexandria and Belle View Councils, Junior Order of Mechanics. Admission will be by ticket, and no boys will be admitted. The object of the meeting will be to set forth the principles and aims of the Mechanics.

Entertainment.

An entertainment entitled "Aunt Dinah's Hunking Bee" will be given by the Sunday school choir of Christ Church in the Parish Hall tonight. About twenty-five persons will take part and a most creditable performance is expected. A number of bright and catchy songs and choruses will be introduced. Entrance to the hall will be by the Washington street gate only.

Personal.

Miss Grace Bagot entertained her friends at a reception Saturday evening in honor of her birthday, at her residence on Duke street. The rooms and table were refreshments were served were prettily decorated with carnations. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hepburn, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Herforth, Misses Payne, Simpson, Hughes, Ella, Bagot, Elsie and Lillian Mills and Beale Russell, Messrs. Underwood, Dawson, Fred Mills, Benj. Bagot and Clarence Bagot. Miss Bagot was the recipient of a number of very pretty presents.

Mr. John Underwood, formerly of this city, has been appointed gateman at the Washington terminal of the Washington-Alexandria ferry, succeeding Mr. William Schoen, who has been appointed ticket agent in this city.

Judge L. C. Barley has been designated by Governor Swanson to hold the February term of the Circuit Court for Prince William county for Judge Nicol, who is still hearing the annexation case of Richmond and Henrico.

Mr. John W. Marton, of Edinburg, Va., assistant inspector of the Washington division of the Southern Railway, and Miss Georgia Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Butler, of Harrisonburg, were married yesterday morning at the home of the bride, Rev. J. W. Dunfee, of the Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Marton left for Palm Beach, Fla., for several weeks' stay. Mr. Marton is well known in this city and his many friends here wish him a long and prosperous married life.

Mrs. A. P. Lenke, who has been spending some time with her friend, Mrs. G. E. Ford, at the University of Virginia, returned yesterday to her home in this city.

Rev. Dr. W. F. Fisher has returned from Norfolk, where he went on Saturday to preach for Rev. Dr. C. S. Blackwell, who is now holding special meetings in the Baptist Church in this city.

Children's Home.

The members of the Board of the Children's Home desire to thank the generous friends in Alexandria who contributed so liberally to make the Christmas season the happiest the children had ever known in their shadowed sorrowful lives. A great many persons were present at our Christmas Festival and they will not soon forget the children's happy faces and eyes twinkling with delight as their hands and laps were filled with gifts of clothing and sweetmeats and toys. The following is the list of contributions received during December, 1905: Through Mr. R. P. W. Garnett, $12; Mr. Herbert Bryant, $10; Mrs. J. Clinton Smoot, $10; Miss Pauline Thornton, $10; W. Appointment Held Up.

When the appointment of Julian P. Baldwin, superintendent of schools of Alexandria county, comes up for ratification in the State Senate, a fight will doubtless be made upon the incumbent, as it is charged in certain circles that he is a republican. No one asserts that Supt. Baldwin has done anything wrong, but technical offenses are openly hinted at. In a letter to Senator Machen, the superintendent admits that he was once a republican, but asserts that he has more recently been a consistent democrat. Senator Machen says a committee will probably be appointed to investigate the matter in executive session. There is considerable opposition in the county to Mr. Baldwin's appointment and it is said there that it will not be confirmed. It is claimed that he opposed the democratic ticket in the last election.

Baptist Church.

The meetings at the First Baptist Church have become so very interesting that they have taken hold of every class and condition in our city. The great crowd that attended the meetings on last Sunday was present again last night, and after all the standing room, both in the gallery and on the lower floor, was occupied, many were turned away. The methods adopted by those conducting the meetings are simple and direct. There is an entire absence of anything like high pressure. The religious enthusiasm among the people is steadily growing and many have professed faith in Christ. The pastor baptized twenty or thirty last night at the conclusion of the service.

Little Girl Burned.

A three-year-old daughter of Mr. William Mason, living on Fayette street, between Queen and Princess, was seriously burned about half-past eleven this morning. The mother of the child had gone to a near-by store, and upon her return found the house full of smoke and the little girl terribly burned. One of the family started after a physician, while smoke was still pouring from the house, which caused an alarm of fire to be sounded, but the flames had been extinguished before the arrival of the apparatus. The little girl, it is said, had been playing with a paper from the stove which set fire to her clothing.

Receiver Discharged.

City Sergeant E. H. Cox who, as stated yesterday, had been appointed receiver for the firm of Fairfax & Co., wholesale liquor dealers, was yesterday evening relieved, the differences existing between the members of the firm having been settled. Mr. Milton Fairfax stated last night that he had come to an amicable arrangement with Mr. H. G. Williams, of Norfolk, one of the members of the firm, and that the incident was closed. He said that he had purchased Mr. Williams' interest and good will, and would continue the business under the firm name of Fairfax & Co. It is understood that the purchase price was $10,000 in cash. In the case Mr. S. G. Brent represented Mr. Fairfax and Messrs. Norton & Boothie Mr. Williams.

At the meeting yesterday of the Roslyn Brick Company, held at the Hotel Rammel, the following officers were elected: F. B. Weaver, president; G. W. Wise, vice president; E. R. Height, secretary, and G. A. Weaver, treasurer. These with R. A. Dabney constitute the board of directors.

The meeting of the Chesapeake Chemical Company to have been held today was postponed until the 10th inst.

Death of a Minister.

Rev. W. H. McAllister, who about fifteen years ago was pastor of Trinity M. E. Church in this city, died near Baltimore January 30. The deceased was a member of Alexandria Council, Royal Arcanum. After leaving this city, Mr. McAllister entered the communion of the Baptist Church since which time he had been a minister of that denomination.

Date Mark a Banned Malady.
Bagdad date mark is the name given to a mysterious disease that attacks nearly every one who stays in Bagdad for any length of time and is found also at Aleppo and other places in Turkish Asia. It is a sore that comes only once, but lasts a year, leaving a scar the shape of a date. Nearly all the natives are marked with it. No remedy has been found for it, but hyposulphite of soda seems to have some effect on the mark.

The Beauty of the Lilies.
"Er—Miss Hardy—Grace—do you not think that these valley lilies are very beautiful?"
"Not so beautiful as orange blossoms, Mr. Jones."
And, thus assisted and encouraged, he presently drifted out upon the wide, wide sea of wedded bliss.
